ORI NUI 10 am - 5 pm Wendy Smith-Wood

Ori Nui is the Japanese term for "sewn shibori." Wendy specializes in shibori, the ancient Japanese craft of dyeing fabric by using ways of "resisting the dye." Sewn shibori is when the fabric is folded into many layers (Wendy uses between 16 and 28 layers) and then a design is sewn through all layers. Dye is then added and taken away perhaps several times before the stitches are unpicked and the fabric opened up to reveal the entire design.
